The entertainment at the school Friday evening was a real treat to those fortunate enough to be present. The costumes were novelties and artistic and reflect great credit on the teachers who trained the young ones and planned the costumes. The stage was a veritable flower garden, and the whole program was good and worthy of the town's liberal patronage

After filling his appointments on June 1st, the Rev. G. A. Chocklett will close his pastorate in Appomattox county and move to Frisk, Grayson county, where he has accepted a call to a field of three churches. Many regrets are expressed at his leaving this field, where he is highly esteemed and prized as a citizen and preacher.

Yesterday Assistant Superintendent Ayers and Supervisor Tolley, of the N. & W Ry, were here dickering with the Appomattox Tobacco Factory about a proper siding and re arranging the cattle pen. These officers were strictly non-committal, and very little if any encouragement is held out to the public spirited people of Appomattox for assistance from the great corporation

The Soaring Eagle

William B. Rogers was the professor of Natural Philosophy at the University of Virginia when I was a student there, some sixty five years ago

He was a delightful lecturer and could invest the subject of Natural Philosophy with the fascination of a romance

In 1858 he retired from the University of Virginia and founded the Polytechnic Institution at Boston.

On one occasion while delivering a lecture before the Institute on the subject of geology, and holding in his hand a lump of coal to illustrate the coal strata fications of the earth's surface, he suddenly fell dead on the platform

I was so much instance of the unlong passion strong in death; an instance of the soaring eagle that fell pierced by an arrow that was winged with a feather from its own breast

Rocks

The Rocks school closed with much success; the children did fine; they were well trained by Miss Anderson, who taught the school. I do not think any thing could be added or taken away that would improve the intertainment. Everyone that had a part in it did splendid. Miss Anderson deserved a lot of credit. I hope the Rocks school will be able to get her again, for she is the best one they have had for several years.

News From Home

It's not a thing of beauty,
Its printis sometimes blurred,
But I like to read its pages,
Yes, I read it every word,
When I'm feeling kinder blue,
It will drive away the frown,
Just to read the little paper,
From my old home town.

I like to read of those I knew
In days of long ago;
I like to know what's happening,
To Mr so and so;
No matter what my spirits are,
If they be up or down,
I like to read the paper
From my old home town.

I am going back some day
To see the things I left behind,
I want to see the places
That still linger in my mind,
'Twill always be the same to me,
No matter where I roam;
The town I met when but a boy
Will always seem like home

Next to going back again,
The thing that is most dear,
Is the little weekly paper,
It always brings me cheer,
So, no matter what my troubles are,
If they be up or down,
I always like the paper
From my old home town

Send it to me every week,
No matter what it cost;
If I miss a copy,
I feel that's something lost,
I want to get it regular,
Wherever I change to roam,
The little weekly paper,
From the town I call my home.

Many Still Read Dickens.

Charles Dickens has been ruled out by a class of the younger literary critics as a decided back number, but the statement by his British publishers that during the past three years the sale of his books has been almost doubled seems to refute that idea. Some of Dickens' novels sell more than 50,000 every year, and he has been dead forty-eight years. His sales during the last ten years have been larger, it is asserted, than those of any three novelists put together.

Greedy for Wasps.

The common green frog has been discovered to possess an insatiate greed for wasps. This extraordinary appetite does not seem to be in the least checked by an occasional sting. The protecting color of the frog, which lies motionless upon leaves, no doubt deceives the most wary of insects into sense of security.

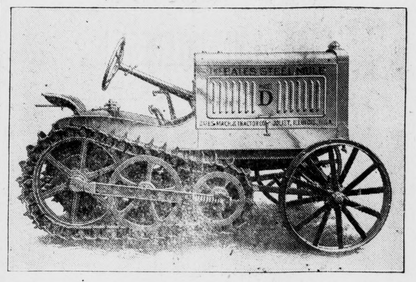
Every Inch of the Bates Steel Mule is Thoroughbred



The United States government by means of the Department of Agriculture, has been looking into the tractor question, and its bulletins clearly proves that the satisfied tractor owner—men who say that the tractor has paid—are men who own the BETTER CLASS of tractors. The successful man has learned years ago that he can't get something for nothing. No one can. The reason the BATES STEEL MULE costs more is that it is worth more. Skilled factory procedure, quantity production and the most modern Machinery enables us to save money at every turn, yet the BATES STEEL MULE cost slightly more in the beginning to build but considerably less in the long run to own. It's just another case where a seemingly higher priced article is ar cheapest to own when you come to actually USE it.

The Bates thoroughbred quality comes not from mere claims, but from what's put into it. Every part that goes to make up the BATES STEEL Mule is put there by long field experience. There isn't a part that isn't time-tried and tested There isn't a part that experience has'nt dictated he shape and size of; and in it all there is'nt one superfluous part, nor one part that isn't capable of standing up under twice the strain it gets in actual use. These are things experience and practice have distracted The BATES comes to you as a fulfillment of your desire for a tractor that will endure. Price is what we pay for a thing. Value is what we get out of it. Consider your tractor from what you will get out of it, consider how many working days you have when the ground is wet, consider the operations where you can not afford to pack your seed bed, and consider how constantly and economically they must be performed even in rush times, you will then see why the BATES STEEL MULE is the biggest value offerd in any tractor on the American market today.
